

Member Recruiter Patch!

Why should my troop/Girl Scout recruit?

Girl Scouts that recruit once per year get a chance to reflect on their own Girl Scout experience and practice telling the community about what's important to them. Girl Scouts are also most successful at recruiting new Girl Scouts and every girl should have the opportunity to become a Girl Scout.

How do my Girl Scouts earn this patch?

Where to recruit

Troops and families find opportunities in the community to run a recruitment table. This can be at a school, at a community event, at a religious service, etc. Reach out to the organizer and secure permission for a day and time to host this table.

What to do

Email customer care@nmgirlscouts.org to schedule a time to pick up a recruitment kit and borrow a table and chairs if needed. Host the recruitment table or speak at the event and have fun with it! You can make signs, have a free activity at your table for kids, show off your Girl Scout uniform, or show pictures of what you've done with Girl Scouts. Make sure to ask interested families to put their information on the sign-up sheet you receive.

Get your patch
